

Literacy Homework

Week of 11/18/13- 11/22/13

Due: Monday, November 25, 2013

Honors Academy of Literature Families,

This week we'll be beginning our All About Books and Inference Unit! Since last week was a short week, scholars have the same word sort Monday and Tuesday. They'll be given new words Wednesday. These new words will continue into next week. (Next week is Thanksgiving!)

Reminder: Baskets for Bingo Night is Friday, November 22 at 6 pm. You can drop off donated items for our classroom basket to me. All donations must be in by Wednesday! ☺

Thank you,

Ms. Miranda

Remember to use expression and to read the punctuation!	Put your homework in your BOOMERANG folder so it's prepared to turn in on Monday.
In your "Thanksgiving" poem, highlight the words : many, years, America, over, and kind. These are your heart words for the week.	Using shaving cream, flour, salt, baby powder, or any other similar material(s) you have at home to trace your heart words. Say the word you want to spell aloud and trace each letter.	Write a short story that includes your heart words. Make sure you make a plan aloud before you write down your story.	Have a parent/guardian give you a short quiz on your heart words. Correct any you misspell.
Sort your words aloud.	Sort your words aloud.	Sort your words aloud.	Sort your words aloud.
Writing Sort: Write your words under the correct headers on a separate sheet of paper.	Write a short rhyme. Try to use as many of your sort words as possible. Go back and make sure all your words are spelt correctly.	Word Hunt: Find four new words that match the patterns in your word sort. Record them on a separate sheet of paper.	Pick 2 words from your sort. Fill out the Four Square Word Map (double sided).
